As a marriage was about to be performed in an English church, a young woman got up to forbid the bans. When the Church Warden went to inquire what "just cause or impediment" she had to the union, she replied that she had a very just one. "Well, what is it?" asked the official. "I—I—want him myself," naively stammered out the damsel.

There is a woman in Wisconsin who has been married fifty-eight years and who has never missed building the kitchen fire. Her husband is probably the oldest fire escape on record.

A Visit to The Menagerie.

[New York Star, Feb., 20.]

A reporter of The Star had occasion to visit the menagerie at Central Park a few days ago. In the winter, time when the London Circus and "Barnum's Greatest" are out of work they send all their animals here, where they do nothing but loaf around and eat. A large party was gathered around the cages as the reporter approached, and a man with a red nose said to a man with a pimple on his ear: "I gnue hewould come!"

"Your remarks are irrelephant and unfeline," said the person addressed.

"Oh you tapir off," said the man with the nose.

The scribe who cannot bear to hear quareling, and imagining that trouble was brulu, was about to withdraw, when the man with the nose said to the man with the pimple: "Let's cease quarreling and keep the young feller here, we can have a rabit of fun with him. It makes me hungry to look cat him."

The Reporter almost quailed before the look the man gave him, but he was by no means too chicken-hearted to stand his ground.

"Let's look cat him," said the man with the nose.

"What does a catamount to?" asked the other.

The whole party gathered round to listen to the puns and the leopard, and strange, to say, all the other animals changed their spots and came up into the front pews.

"You're ape pup," ejaculated one.

"You're a lion," said the other.

"Let's seal drop it first," said a little boy with a skylight in the roof of his cap.

"You're a cannable. You tried to bite off your mother's sister's ear. You're an anteeater."

"Yes but I ain't a hog."

"No, because you have to beguinea-pig before you can be a hog, and it was your lot to beguinea hen thief."

At each fresh (very fresh) sally of wit the crane woodcock his ears, and a cockatoo, or perhaps three came up to the railing and a little condor, anaconda, which was a little bigger, crow-ded toward the front and camel little nearer.

"Giraffe your overcoat last winter?" asks the man with the nose.

"No, you borrowed it to get a meal with," responded the other.

"I'd like to have something to eat now. Make me quail and we'll divide."

"It's porcupine for," answered the other fiend.

At this point all the females swandered away, and as only a lot of men stood around the man with the pimple asked. "Canary one of you treat?"

"Jackassed me to drink the other day, and I feel just like taking another," beseechingly said the man with the nose.

"Patridge you if he was here," said a little boy, who had been taking in the matinee.

As the reporter walked sadly but earnestly away, he could sea-lions and snakes and peacocks floating in the air and as a rooster gets rid of them hen he gave them an eagle—in his mind.

A Human Curiosity.

[Waupaca (Wis.) Letter in Chicago Times.]

The Times correspondent learned to-day of the severe illness of Evan Thompson, son of Postmaster E. B. Thompson, and has gleaned the following facts from the boy's father: Evan was born May 25, 1864. During the first three years of his life he grew the same as other children, and seemed possessed of unusual brilliancy. At the age of three he could recite long poems perfectly, and could talk as plainly as an adult. He knew all his letters, and could spell short words. His father and mother are proud of their son, and did what they could to instruct him. When he was three and a half years old he was taken with a fit, the nature of which puzzled the doctors. These fits came at more frequent intervals, and the child began to lose the power of locomotion and speech. When he was four and a half years old he was laid in his little crib, and has remained there for the past eleven years, not at any time being able to even turn himself over. He now weighs about twelve pounds, and is thirty-six inches long. The bones in his arm are not larger than an ordinary lead-pencil, and the skin is drawn tightly around them. His head is the size of that of any child's five or six years old. He has not spoken a word for over eleven years, and still is able to detect the presence of a stranger in the room. He knows in an instant his father, mother, sisters and brothers, and seems to talk with his eyes. They are large, gray and very expressive; with them he can beckon or repel, denote his pleasure or his displeasure; in fact the members of his family can understand his most trivial wants by the expression of his eyes. The child is kept alive by eating three times a day, about two ounces of liquid or semi-liquid food and if more than that amount is given him, it is forced up from his stomach. He is entirely helpless, and of course cannot feed himself, not even being able to chew his food. He has a passage of the bowels regularly once every twenty-one days, which is attended with the greatest struggles and seeming pain. Physicians say there is no hope for him, and his death is daily expected.

The palmy days of a boy's life are those in which he gets properly spanked by his mother.

The Revenue and Tax Law.

The following is a synopsis of the principal features of Revenue Bill No. 494, as finally passed:

All property is taxed not exempt under the laws of the United States, and except growing crops and governmental property.

Property moneys, credits, bonds, stocks, dues, franchises and all other matters and things real, personal and mixed, capable of private ownership. Real estate in possession, ownership and all claims to possession of land, and includes mines, quarries and timber, and all rights and privileges appertaining; also all forms of securities for which land may stand pledged. Real estate and improvements are separately assessed.

Improvements are things affixed upon or artificially growing on land.

Personal property is all things not embraced within the definition of reality.

Assessable value of property is that at which it would be taken in payment of a solvent debt.

Credits subject to taxation are unsecured solvent debts. In case of banks, it is not required to show debts in detail or to whom owing.

Debts taxable are unsecured liabilities.

Capital stock of corporation in the State is assessable at its market value to individual stockholders, after deducting the value of property assessed to the corporation of which the capital stock is representive. Stock of corporations outside of the State is assessable at its market value to individuals.

Cultivated and uncultivated land shall be assessed equally. [Note.—The law is silent as to whether the standard value by which this equality is to be reached shall be that of the cultivated or uncultivated land.]

Mortgages and deeds of trust are taxable as an interest in the property. The property is assessed to the owner or mortgager, and the mortgagee or trust deed to the mortgagee; railroads excepted.

Railroads and franchises are assessed by the State Board of Equalization, except franchises granted by the municipal corporations. The proportionate value of assessments of roads and franchises are distributed to the counties through which the road runs.

All lands to be assessed in parcels or sub divisions not exceeding 640 acres each.

Assessments are upon property owned or controlled by a tax-payer at 12 M. on the first Monday in March.

From solvent debts are to be subtracted credits due to the residents of this State.

The tax-payer to make a list of his property under oath.

Ditches, roads and telegraph lines, with their improvements, must be listed as real estate and as a whole.

The only basis of taxation for a county or any part of it is the assessment made by the County Assessor. Cities and towns are excepted, but may accept the basis.

Every tax due on personal property is a lien on the real property of the owner.

Unpaid taxes become delinquent on the last Monday in December, at 6 P. M.

Poll taxes are payable by all males over 21 and under 60 years, except paupers, insane persons and Indians not taxed. Poll tax is $2, if paid between the first Monday in March and the first Monday in July, but otherwise $3.

These are the terms upon which Haggin & Carr rent their lands in Kern county: They build a house, barn and outbuildings furnish seed, provisions, etc., for the settler until he can supply himself, and if need be, a portion of the team, and on the brush land only ask a return of the outlay from the crop of the farmer the fourth year, and one-fourth of the crop after the first year; and on clear ground ready for the plow, they ask one-fourth of the crop the first year and on clear land ready for the plow, they ask one-fourth of the crop the first year and a return of the advance made.

Haggin & Carr are planting, in Kern county, about twenty acres of grain as an experiment. It is believed that the difficulty in separating the fibre from the bark has been overcome by a machine of recent invention, and the faith of these gentlemen is strong in its success.

Thomas Hatton was thrown from his horse at Jackson, Sunday last, and had his neck dislocated, which, after being set four or five times, was properly secured. Hatton remained unconscious several hours, but is now all right.

His Fee.—Ben Butler tells the Ward Presidents of the San Francisco Workingmen that he will attend to the anti-Chinese bill case in the U. S. Supreme Court for from $2,000 to $5,000.

No farming community was ever known to be prosperous where fifteen or twenty Chinese vegetable peddlers made daily trips from house to house.

Cotton goods, manufactured in South Carolina, are sent to New England. The South is on the right road in that direction.

Mr. Singley, 101 years of age, recently walked four miles to Grass Valley in order to purchase a gun to go hunting.

Leather has increased in price from 19 cents to 32 cents per pound. Tanners are happy and shoemakers are sad.

In Tehama county the first spring clip of wool has been sold at 30 cents per pound.

Telegraphic.

COAST.

Have Nominated.

SAN FRANCISCO, March 24.—The Council of two hundred of the Citizens' Protective Union, last night nominated fifteen freeholders as candidates for the Charter election—eight Democrats and seven Republicans. It is expected that they will be endorsed by the Democratic and Republican County Committees.

EASTERN.

The Pacific Mail.

New York, March 24.—The World's Washington special says that Senator Bailey, Dem., of Tennessee, said to-day, in conversation, that the Sub-Committee of the Judiciary Committee would soon take cognizance of his resolution of inquiry touching the Pacific Mail Steamship Company and the names or people familiar with the transaction complained of between it and the Railroad Company, and its effect on trans-continental commerce were in his possession. These persons would be requested to appear and testify, the idea being to show that the contract was against public policy and a conspiracy against the commercial public requiring the immediate action of Congress. Among the parties mentioned was Dillon, Huntington, Sage, Keene, Gould and others.

Scandal.

WASHINGTON, March 24.—Senator Hill and a friend have filed affidavits that Jessie Raymond totally unknown to Hill; has no claim on him; is attempting to extort money by annoyance and threats, and that he, Hill, believes that the latter may be dangerous. He asserts that she is an abandoned character, and requests the police to take action in the matter. His friend Small testified that Jessie had said that she would have $500 or Hill's life, if she hung for it.

Wife Murder.

ELMIRA, N. Y., March 24.—At Lawrenceville, Pa., this morning, Sidney Greene killed his wife, and being pursued shot himself dead. His wife, had only recently returned from the West.

"Go West."

NEW YORK, March 24.—The Erie express which left here last night, had a special car attached, followed with a party of emigrants sent by Whitelaw Reid, editor of the N. Y. Tribune, to homes in the West. There were 72 children and 16 adults. The children unaccompanied by parents, will go to Burlington, Kansas, where homes will be prepared for them in families of neighboring farmers. Families will go to different places in the West where are fair prospects of success in life.

Grant a Candidate.

CHICAGO, March 24.—The Tribune's Galveston special says General Frisbie, an extensive miner in Mexico, who came with Grant, says the General told him that he hoped the Republicans would not nominate him, but Frisbie says Grant is a candidate in hope of bettering his civil record.

Nominations.

WASHINGTON, March 24.—President Hayes sent the following nominations to the Senate to-day James B. Angell, of Michigan, to be Envoy Extraordinary and Minister Plenipotentiary to China, vice Seward, recalled; John F. Swift, of California, and Wm. H. Trescott of South Carolina, to be Commissioners to China to negotiate a treaty with China.

FOREIGN.

ST. PETERSBURG, March 24.—The Ve-Komish, a semi official organ of the Ministry of Instruction, urges greater liberty of the press, as a means of assisting the Supreme Executive Commission and advises the open publication of the Nihilist's idea, which once freely discussed would appear in their true light. The Journal says, if the French Government wishes to remove all established precedents of extradition, and create a new procedure it certainly is in a situation to do so, but it would only have been just to advise the Government with which it was in negotiation of the fact.

Ransom.

CONSTANTINOPLE, March 24.—The amount paid the Greek brigands for the ransom of Col. Synge twelve thousand pounds. He is unmarried, and of course, the statement that his wife has been captured is untrue.

The ladies of Sutter Creek contemplate getting up something new in the shape of a grand Leap-year Fourth of July celebration on the coming national anniversary. A lady orator will be chosen, and a lady will read the Declaration of Independence. In fact, the whole celebration will be managed by the ladies in the same manner that such affairs are managed by the sterner sex, with the probable exception of getting drunk and having free fights at night.

Last Thursday some luckey person brought a nugget of gold, weighing 41 14-16 ounces, to Madera, Fresno county, and sold it to H. S. Williams, the enterprising merchant, for $656, being $16 per ounce.

LOCAL INTELLIGENCE.

ARRIVALS YESTERDAY.

J Cohen, J Williams, J McCall, M Verden, J Burse, V Medowvich, One Chinaman.

DEPARTURES YESTERDAY.

H Stoddard, Mrs C. Dornin.

COURT PROCEEDINGS.—Justice Peterson yesterday morning rendered his decision in the Dillon-Travis murder case. He had carefully read the testimony, and was satisfied that no conviction for murder—for murder it must be, or nothing—could be had, but to give the prosecuting attorney another chance to carry it to a higher court he would hold the prisoner to answer in the nominal sum of $500, believing that the District Attorney, unless new evidence was secured, will move for his discharge. Deputy District Attorney Love said that he was satisfied no conviction could be obtained, as no additional testimony can be secured, and he therefore moved for the prisoner's discharge. Judge Peterson then ordered Dillon's discharge. Hon. P. Reddy was Dillon's counsel, and made a vigorous defense.

The charge against Dora Burnell was dismissed.

A girl named French Joe was fined $25 for breaking windows in the Sonora dance house. In default she went to jail.

In Justice Newman's Court Frank Higgins was fined $23 for a misdemeanor. He paid up.

The case of Nick Baule was dismissed.

FROM HOMER.—Superintendent Jones arrived last evening from Homer District. The first steam whistle blown in that district was heard yesterday, Hill & Hall's saw mill having started up. There has been no material increase in population. The Homer Company have run their tunnel in 200 feet on the Crevice lead to a point opposite the immense croppings of the Wasatch and Nioma ledges, and on Saturday next crosscuts will be started east for the Wasatch and west for the Nioma ledges. The new cross lead, or Seneca vein, struck in the tunnel about two weeks ago, has been drifted on about 12 feet, showing good ore all the way.

MILL CREEK.—We learn that San Francisco parties are investing in lots in Lundy; and that prices are enhanced. Those who sold at low figures are disgusted. The outlook is evidence of stirring times.

WELLS, FARGO & Co.—Petitions are being numerously signed by our people in favor of Wells, Fargo & Co. retaining the carrying of letters.

REGRETS.—This, in due time, will be added to the obituary of more than one of our cotemporaries: Died, universally regretted by its creditors.

FREE ADVERTISING.—The Sentonian devotes about all its available space to the BODIE CHRONICLE. Thanks.

GETTING READY.—Another storm is brewing.

Legislature.

The following new bills have been introduced in the Senate:

Adding three sections to the Political Code, authorizing Boards of Supervisors and town authorities to allow $2 per capita to each volunteer fireman. (This gets around the Constitution by authorizing counties and cities to pay the poll tax for volunteer firemen.)

Appointing money for the support of aged and infirm women.

Adding a section to the Political Code prohibiting other than regularly organized militia regiments from parading with arms without the license of the Governor.

Amending section 882 of the Penal Code, concerning the conditional examination of witnesses.

The power of newspapers in influencing public opinion has been acknowledged by that "hard citizen," the Rev. Edward Cowley. On his way to Blackwell's Island he said: "It was the press that convicted me." The Shepherd, on the Island, will not fare so badly as the little children whom he starved at the "Fold," but his diet is rather spare and his daily occupation is punching holes in shoe leather.

MARBLE WORK.—Frank N. Fish, of the firm of Aitken & Fish, of the Pioneer Marble Works, Sacramento, is in town, and can be found at H. Ward's undertaking rooms, where he will receive orders for marble work of all kinds, particularly monuments and tombstones. Mr. Fish will canvass the city.

Congressman Pacheco has introduced an bill donating Cap Independence for school purposes—to be sold for the establishment of High Schools in Inyo and Mono counties.

More mining machinery will be put up in Utah this year than at any time since the discovery of mineral within its borders.

Charles Lenton, a Benton jeweler decamped recently, taking a number of watches belonging to his patrons.

Count Delisseup went East on Sunday morning.

WASHINGTON LETTER.

WASHINGTON, D. C. March 16th, 1880.

Ben Hill is in trouble that will stick to him for a long time. When they charged Senator Kellogg with having brought a woman here to blackmail him, he "bit off more than he could chaw." Senator Kellogg defies him to the proof, and wants a Committee to show that Hill has taken this course to cover up his immoral transactions. This is followed by the charges that of Mrs. Lockwood that Hill has ruined several families here, and altogether Hill will have a tough time of it to clear up his smooched character.

Captain Eades was before the Congressional Committee a second time on Saturday, and made further important statements about inter-Oceanic Commercial projects. He said that DeLesseps Canal could not be connected for less than three hundred million dollars, while a ship railway could be built for fifty million. The canal would require twenty years for construction, while the railway would require but four. The Committee are very favorably impressed with his plan.

Although they still threaten to unseat Washburn, and seat Donnelly of Minnesota, the Democratic Committee hesitates to report, and the supposition, is that they fear they cannot bring the majority of the House up to the scratch to commit such a contemptible outrage. Several other election cases hang fire for the same reason. Congress is not in the habit of having short sessions on Presidential years. Somebody has looked up the Record to ascertain that since 1828 Congress has not adjourned on Presidential years short of July. In 1876 it was in session until the middle of August.

The Democrats are receiving some interesting news from Maine. Besides the elections there, which have been discouragingly against them, the investigation of their act by the Legislative, Committee exposes some of the most disgraceful proceedings ever deliberately entered upon by any organization of men. Instances of fraud and forgery the most glaring in making up the election returns have been discovered, and Garcelon seems to have capped the climax the othe day by professing that he knew nothing about what was going on in the Council chamber of which he was the head. Some mighty interesting reading will be the result of these inquiries, and the Democratic party will have to shoulder the responsibility for the greatest outrage of the nineteenth century.

MAXWELL.

GOOD BOOKS.—Albert H. Mertes is now in our city soliciting subscriptions for the following good and valuable books: Foundation of success and Laws of trade, by D. R. Shafer, A. M. Life and Travels of General Grant. The Complete Home, by Mrs. Julia McNair Wright. Human Science by O. S. Fowler. Pictoral History of the United States, by James D. McCabe. Detectives of Europe and America by McWaters. The Tramps Abroad, by Mark Twain. He also takes orders for blanks, charts, maps and stationary. The above works mentioned are nicely gotten up, and Mr. Mertes has already a number of orders.

BLAINE.—Blaine was born in Pennsylvania in 1830. After graduating from college, he went to Frankfort, Ky., as a school teacher. There he met a young Yankee schoolma'am, and in due time went to her home in Maine to be married. He staid there. He was poor, but the brothers of his wife were successful men. About that time the Democratic party went out of power in Maine. Blaine got an interest in the Kenebeck Journal, which had the State printing to do. Afterwards he became a writer on a Portland paper. In 1859, he was elected to the lower branch of the Legislature, and was three times re-elected. He was sent to Congress in 1865, and has been there since. He has accumulated a handsome fortune.

A marble-cutter testified in a Philadelphia Court that the late Mr. Whittaker ordered a red white and blue monument to be constructed for his deceased wife. The capitalist explained that his wife had always been a very patriotic woman. The monument was so made, the stone for the base being red, the central shaft white, and the upper portions blue. The manument was placed over the wife's remains in the cemetery.

Will the man who writes "Direction for resuscitating drowned men," and "How to prevent sunstroke," please change his stop for a season, and tell us what is good for a cold in the head.

A London chemist announces that he has discovered a process for manufacturing diamonds. We're glad of this. Diamonds will soon be cheap enough for men to wear them on their toes instead of corns.

An eagle was seen to swoop down and carry away a young kid at Long Ravine bridge, near Colfax, last week.

Knights of Pythias.

Meetings of the Association will be held every Wednesday evening, at 7.30 o'clock, at the Engine House. All brothers are invited to attend.
